

CRS Newsletter June 10, 2022

Dear Members and Fellows of the CRS, dear subscribers of the CRS mailing list

With this newsletter we provide information and activities related to reproducibility, replicability and related topics. You will also find information about activities conducted by the CRS.

Content

1. Swiss Reproducibility Awards organised by the Swiss Reproducibility Network
 2. Reproducibility, Replicability and Trust in Science 2022 conference
 3. The first Swiss ReproHack was a great success!
 4. Save the date: Good Research Practice Course Fall 2022
 5. Publication Alert: The Center for Reproducible Science at the University of Zurich
-
1. For the first time, the SwissRN invites nominations for the Swiss Reproducibility Awards. The goal is to support and highlight the work of young scholars. The submitted work has to have been conducted by a PhD or Master student and an award will be granted for each of the three scientific categories: Humanities and Social Sciences; Mathematics, Natural and Engineering Sciences; and Biology and Medicine. The young scholars can be nominated or nominate themselves. Find all necessary information here. Please distribute the announcement widely within your network!
 2. The Reproducibility, Replicability and Trust in Science 2022 conference organized by Wellcome Connecting Science will be held from 07-09 September in the UK (in hybrid format). Detailed information on abstract submission and the programme can be found online.
 3. On 20th May 2022, the SwissRN Academy hosted the first national Reproducibility Hackathon -- Swiss ReproHack -- at the University of Bern. 15 early career researchers participated in the effort and tried to reproduce scientific publications. They also had the opportunity to listen to contributions by Mark Robinson, Anja Eggert and Tim Errington. Let us know if you want to join the Swiss Reproducibility Network Academy, they are always looking for interested young researchers!
 4. The CRS Good Research Practice course in collaboration with the Graduate Campus will take place on November 11 and 18 (through the graduate campus: phd, postdoc).
 5. Publication Alert: Eva Furrer and Leonhard Held wrote a contribution on “The Center for Reproducible Science at the University of Zurich” for The Journal of Reproducibility in Neuroscience which is available at <https://jrn.epistemehealth.com/article/2/1727/view-pdf.html>.